Event Report

On April 12, 2019, ISME hosted a vibrant Rangoli Competition, which saw the participation of 35 students showcasing their artistic talents. The event provided a platform for participants to create intricate and colorful designs using traditional Indian art forms. From intricate patterns to elaborate motifs, the students demonstrated their creativity and attention to detail, captivating the audience with their visually stunning displays.

The Rangoli Competition at ISME exemplified the university's commitment to promoting cultural diversity and artistic expression among its students. Through their innovative designs and skillful craftsmanship, participants not only celebrated the rich heritage of Indian art but also fostered a sense of community and appreciation for traditional craftsmanship. The event served as a reminder of the beauty and significance of cultural traditions, enriching campus life and inspiring creativity among all who attended.
