Event Report

The International School of Management Excellence canteen buzzed with the "Cooking Without Fire" event! Students donned their chef hats, showcasing their culinary creativity. Without flames, they whipped up delicious and healthy dishes using techniques like pickling, marinating, and infusing. From vibrant salads to zesty ceviche, the variety tantalized taste buds. The entrepreneurial spirit soared as students sold their creations, turning the canteen into a marketplace of culinary delights. Not only did they learn fire-free cooking, but they also gained valuable business experience, all while promoting healthy eating on campus.
